

Privacy Policy

This offer is made by Luminare Home Loans. The information used in connection with this offer was not provided or authorized by your current lender. Luminare Home Loans is not affiliated or associated with your current lender.

This information was obtained from public records and was not provided or authorized by your current lender.

Luminare Home Loans is not endorsing or guaranteeing the products, information or recommendations provided by linked websites, nor is it liable for failure of products or services advertised on the linked website. Luminare does not represent either the third party or the customer if the two enter into a transaction. Linked websites may have a different privacy policy and different security than Luminare's website.

We do not collect any personally identifiable information through technologies such as cookies or web beacons on this site. The only information we collect is from visitors who complete an application on this website and only for the purpose of evaluating the application for a mortgage loan.